Description (max. 300 words) Short description of the aim and working method of the practice. Please note that in this description, it must be clear that there is an explicit connection to preventing and/or countering radicalisation and/or violent extremism. This means that in the aims and/or the activities/methods/tools of the practice, there is a link to preventing and countering radicalisation and/or violent extremism. Practices without this link cannot be included in the RAN Collection.	The '180° Turn' initiative comprises a network of young people, multipliers and coaches, who are trained as street workers in cooperation with our partners. The young multipliers are trained in different fields, such as moral courage or the prevention of drug addiction and violence. The network of young multipliers is active in the whole city and suited for tackling the phenomenon of radicalisation at its roots. Multipliers and coaches spread counter-narratives through their networks and act as role models for the target group.

Sustainability and transferability (maximum of 200 words) Short description on the sustainability and transferability of the practice, including e.g. information on the costs of the practice. Please elaborate on which elements are transferrable and how.	The project itself is a sustainable long-term solution and can be adapted to other locations worldwide. It is of the utmost importance to build up long-standing cooperation with the respective local police and the responsible department for youth and family affairs within the local municipality. Moreover, the project members should be role models with a positive impact on young people. These members should be in a position to persuade young minds to work on a voluntary basis within the project network. The establishment of a network consisting of coaches, multipliers, local authorities and the whole social environment has lasting effects. By giving those social actors an important role in the fight against radicalisation, the sustainability and transferability of the practice is assured. The training modules are free of charge for the participants. It is a volunteer activity, and for the modules, financial support is received from various foundations.
