Name of the practice Please note that by practice we mean an activity/method/tool that has been used or is in use by professionals and/or community members.	Advice Centre Hesse – Religious Tolerance instead of Extremism
Description (max. 300 words) Short description of the aim and working method of the practice. Please note that in this description, it must be clear that there is an explicit connection to preventing and/or countering radicalisation and/or violent extremism. This means that in the aims and/or the activities/methods/tools of the practice, there is a link to preventing and countering radicalisation and/or violent extremism. Practices without this link cannot be included in the RAN Collection.	The main focus of the Advice Centre Hesse is to intervene in the radicalisation process. Targeted deradicalisation activities are aimed at people who tend to travel to war zones, return to Germany as 'foreign fighters' and/or are seeking to disengage from extremist ideologies. The Advice Centre Hesse also deals with cases of extremism related to other countries. The Advice Centre Hesse deals with adolescents, parents and experts who have questions related to extremism. The centre provides prevention, intervention and deradicalisation measures that can help those who feel helpless and overwhelmed in their dealings with religious extremism. The Advice Centre Hesse promotes increased (religious) tolerance of different world views, as well as early detection, prevention and reversal of radicalisation processes. A key feature of the Hessian approach is to provide adolescents, at an early stage, with in-depth information on interfaith and intercultural connections, and on dealing with interfaith conflicts. Interfaith communication allows for a basic understanding that does not reject fundamental principles such as democracy, non-violence, human rights and tolerance. Rather, it includes these values in one's own religion as well. At the same time, this understanding also prevents extremism and the trend towards radicalism.

	In order to cover a broad spectrum within the target group, prevention as well as intervention measures are used. In particularly entrenched cases, deradicalisation measures and disengagement assistance are provided. The objectives of the Advice Centre Hesse are to: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • prevent and reverse radicalisation processes and violent behaviour • prevent departure (e.g. to Syria or Iraq) • integrate returnees (e.g. from Syria or Iraq) • promote interfaith/intercultural responsibility • activate and professionalise institutions and multipliers. Range of services Prevention: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Student workshops in schools on interfaith and intercultural responsibility • Advice for parents, mosque congregations and other interested parties, in the framework of preventive work • Civic education for promoting tolerance and democratic capability Qualification: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Information, awareness-raising and educational events for early detection and strengthening of coping skills for those in contact with vulnerable young people Intervention/deradicalisation/disengagement assistance: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Advice for relatives dealing with religious extremism • Advice, support and special training for adolescents at risk of becoming radicalised, prior to delinquency • Disengagement assistance: advice and dialogue-promoting measures with radicalised persons, foreign fighters and returnees (e.g. from Syria)
