10 SIGNS THAT SOMEONE MIGHT BE A VICTIM OF HUMAN TRAFFICKING:

1. Is the person usually escorted whenever he/she goes to and returns from work or other outdoor activities?
2. Can the person speak freely or is someone else communicating for him/her?
3. Does the person appear to be disconnected or isolated from family, community, and friends?
4. Does the person appear to have very few clothing items?
5. Does the person sleep where he/she works?
6. Does the person depend on someone else for accommodation and transportation?
7. Does the person live in an unsuitable, overcrowded or otherwise substandard place, e.g., in derelict or industrial buildings?
8. Is the person giving his/her earnings to someone else?
9. If it concerns a child: does the child look intimidated and behave in ways that do not correspond with children of that age? ?
10. Is the person in possession of his/her own identification and travel documents?

Not all indicators listed above are present in every case of human trafficking, and the presence or absence of any of these indicators is not necessarily proof of human trafficking or lack thereof.
