	Belgium	Yes	A memorandum of understanding (MOU) on migration issues between Belgium and Vietnam was signed in Brussels on Jan 19, 2009. The aim of the agreement is to strengthen cooperation in the field of migration, particularly in facilitating legal migration, preventing illegal immigration and ensuring the repatriation of illegal immigrants. The Vietnamese-Belgian MOU is effective for five years and will be automatically extended every five years unless either side wants to end or amend it. Illegal migrants from Vietnam are often apprehended in the coastal region (trying to reach the UK) and in Vietnamese restaurants in the major cities. During the years before the MOU, Vietnam refused to take back immigrants without identity documents. One of the goals of the MOU was to change this policy. In 2009 there were 28 forced returns of Vietnamese citizens from Belgium, in 2008 only 8.
