Evidence and evaluation Short description on performance measures of the practice, including	The Ministry of Social Affairs reviewed the Aarhus model and deemed it an exemplary practice. The Info-house (a method for coordination and sharing information between police and municipal agencies) and the mentor programme have both been adopted by the Danish government as nationwide practice implemented through the police districts. The method has received positive feedback in RAN group meetings and in international forums.

<ol style="list-style-type: none"> <li>1. qualitative views and quantitative (statistical) data e.g. measure of the success of your project or intervention.</li> <li>2. evaluation and feedback, including surveys and/or anecdotal evidence e.g. have you done either an internal or external evaluation, have you encouraged any feedback from your target group?</li> <li>3. peer review which feedback did the practice receive in the RAN working group and/or study visit where the practice was discussed.</li> </ol> Please elaborate on the outcomes of your monitoring and evaluation efforts.	Evidence collected via assessment forms in the mentoring programme indicates this is an effective method for individual intervention. Anthropologists' qualitative interviews of foreign fighters and their family members highlight the effectiveness of coordinated multi-agency collaboration in reintegration into society (Mette-Louise Johansen in the anthology 'Fremmedkrigere', Gyldendal 2017).
Sustainability and transferability (maximum of 200 words) Short description on the sustainability and transferability of the practice, including e.g. information on the costs of the practice. Please elaborate on which elements are transferrable and how.	The practice is directly transferrable to countries with a highly developed and well-functioning infrastructure. The main challenge is establishing the multi-agency cooperation required for the practice to operate. In its current form, the practice in its entirety is harder to transfer to countries lacking a highly developed infrastructure or where there is little basis for law enforcement, social service or NGO cooperation. However, individual methodological elements in the practice will be immediately transferrable, (for instance workshops, life psychology and family network groups).
Presented and discussed in RAN meeting Please note that to be included in the Collection, the practice is preferably nominated through one of the RAN meetings.
